

Anna Petropoulos, M.D.

“My goal is to bring joy to my patients by restoring what they may have lost over time. I believe we age gracefully by maintaining our natural beauty with safe and simple treatments. We live in a wonderful time to have these technologies available to us.”

The Practice

Dr. Petropoulos, a leader and innovator for over a decade in non-invasive facial rejuvenation techniques, is the Medical Director of The New England Facial & Cosmetic Surgery Center, where safe, affordable, modern cosmetic treatments are offered for those that want to turn back time. Surgical, non-surgical, permanent, and non-permanent techniques are available with personal consultations to provide the best treatment option for your needs—based on your degree of aging, skin type, bone structure, overall health, and realistic expectations. Dr. Petropoulos believes that by addressing the different signs of facial aging, a harmonious freshening of a person's appearance occurs in a natural way.

While growing up, Dr. Petropoulos excelled in the sciences, winning many national competitions and scholarships, including those from NASA and NIH. Her scientific upbringing was balanced with exposure to the classical arts, thus developing an appreciation for the classical aesthetic world. These attributes coupled with the fact that she is very detail oriented and meticulous, enable Dr. Petropoulos to achieve pleasing and natural results. Every day, she feels fulfilled to have chosen a profession that not only combines the artistic world with the scientific, but also embodies bringing goodness to others by restoring their verve for life.

Dr. Petropoulos' New England Facial and Cosmetic Surgery Center, located in the Hunt Medical Building in Danvers, is a delightfully welcoming medical office. Relaxing arias of Italian tenor Andrea Bocelli fill the air. Statues and paintings include those of Aphrodite, the Greek goddess of beauty and the logo for the practice. Dr. Petropoulos believes Aphrodite embodies her personal and professional philosophy: classic beauty with natural, symmetrical and harmonious proportions. The plum-colored interior and warm, friendly staff evoke the feeling of a 5-star hotel, transporting you from the busy outside world to a sanctuary of relaxation, pampering and peace.
